1. Read the passage carefully and answer the questions given below:

“This show is fast and the stunts are fantastic. It’s so much better than the film! When the plane crashes into the water and explodes, you can feel the heat on your skin!” says David, aged 14, living in Toronto, Canada.

Fourteen-year-old David is describing ‘Water world’, a show at Universal Studios, Hollywood, one of the four big theme parks in Los Angeles. His comments appear on a website where park visitors talk about the rides and shows.

There is a lot of competition between the parks. Each one tries to make their rides and shows more and more exciting, which is why people sometimes say that the shows are often more fun than the films!

Universal Studios Hollywood is a working film studio, a role that goes back to the early days of Hollywood. Within its gates, the rich heritage of films of the past and all the stars and excitement of today’s Hollywood truly comes alive.

Universal Studios Hollywood is huge. There are live shows, rides, restaurants, shops and exhibitions where visitors can look at the props used in films. The rides are based on popular films such as Back to the Future, Jurassic Park and The Terminator.

Visitors can take tours to see where films and television shows are made. They can also find out how the studio makes rainstorms, snow and fog.

The first-timer favourite is the tram tour, during which you can experience the parting of the Red Sea, an avalanche, a snowstorm, and a flood; meet a nine-meter-tall King Kong; be attacked by the killer shark of Jaws fame; survive an all-too-real simulation of an earthquake that measures 8.3 on the Richter scale, complete with collapsing earth'; and come face to face with a scary Egyptian mummy.

The trams have audio and video systems and the guided trip circles the 415-acre complex all day long. This tram ride is usually the best place to start, since it is on the lower level of the park.

Advertisements for Universal Studios Hollywood say that this is 'where everything that happens in the films happens to you'.

Anyone who has dropped down the 24-metre waterfall at the end of the Jurassic Park ride might agree that this is true!

i. Answer these questions:

1. What does David find better than a film? Why does he feel so?
2. How has the competition between the theme Parks benefitted the people?
3. How can visitors enjoy at Universal Studios?
4. What do advertisements say about Universal Studios, Hollywood?

ii. Fill in the blanks with the appropriate words from the above text:

1. _____ is a place where everything that happens in the films happens to you.
2. _____ is one of the four big theme parks in Los Angeles.
3. _____ try to make their rides and shows more and more exciting.
4. _____ have audio and video systems.
